Futures and Options Pre-Internship Program Student Agreement

The Futures and Options Pre-Internship Program is designed to provide motivated New York City high school students with the skills and knowledge needed to be successful in a professional workplace. Futures and Options' pre-internship workshops support students in developing increased confidence and stronger communication skills.

Students are required to attend 10 two-hour workshops, which are held once a week. Students must communicate in advance with Futures and Options' program coordinators if, for any reason, they are not able to attend a workshop and/or fulfill their commitment to the program.

Participating students must be available for the entire duration of the program and attend all 10 of Futures and Options workshops in order to successfully complete the program.

Participating students will be required to complete pre and post program questionnaires and evaluations during the program.
